Two Cardinal Newman Students Selected for Publication in Richland County Public Library Kids in Print

Columbia, SC – Cardinal Newman students (and sisters) Clover and Andrea Robichaud were selected to be published in the 2014 edition of Richland Library’s Kids in Print publication. This collection includes stories, poems and artwork submitted by students ages 6-18. The students were honored at a reception on May 3rd.

Freshman Clover Robichaud
Poem: “Leaves”

7th grader Andrea Robichaud
Poem: “My Life in the Shadows”
Picture: “Dragon Eggs: A Different Perspective

With origins dating to 1858, Cardinal Newman School, a diocesan, coeducational, college preparatory secondary school serving grades 7 through 12, exists for the purpose of providing Catholic education of the highest quality to children of residents of the greater Columbia community. With an emphasis on the Catholic tradition of education - strong academics, a dedication to service, and traditional Catholic, Christian values, Cardinal Newman School provides a safe and structured environment, which challenges all students to achieve personal excellence in every way. Inspired by the community belief in divine providence and love, Cardinal Newman Students will become self-disciplined learners who also demonstrate respect, integrity, responsibility and a sense of justice as they prepare to live lives of truth, integrity and fidelity – VERITAS, INTEGRITAS, FIDELITAS

###